The bride wore a floor length gown of white polyester whipped cream. The empire bodice featured a modified square neckline outlined in lace, with more lace highlighting the bodice. Teacup sleeves edged in the same cluny lace added grace to the gown. The full A-line skirt was edged in lace and fell to a chapel length train in back.

To complete the picture, the bride chose a fingertip veil of double illusion, etched and capped in matching lace.

She carried a bouquet of red and white roses and baby's breath, and was escorted by her father.
